

COMBATING GREEN CORRUPTION

A conversation on fighting financial crime as a driver of environmental degradation

Please join us for a discussion on the "Green Corruption" approach to tackling nature crime, featuring high-level representatives from the U.S. and Ukrainian Governments, Embassy of Liechtenstein, WWF and the Basel Institute on Governance.

Nature crimes and financial crimes are intricately intertwined. By identifying and disrupting corruption and illicit financial flows, nature crimes such as illegal mining, wildlife trade, logging and waste disposal can be tracked, disrupted and prosecuted.

The speakers will explore best practices and concrete examples in fighting Green Corruption.

The event is held in the run-up to the 10th Conference of the States Parties of the UN Convention against Corruption, hosted by the United States in Atlanta, Georgia in December 2023.

Refreshments will be served following the event.

SPEAKERS AND PANELISTS

Ambassador Georg Sparber
Ambassador of Liechtenstein to the United States

Andrea Gacki
Director of FinCEN
U.S. Department of the Treasury

Richard Nephew
Coordinator on Global Anti-Corruption
U.S. Department of State

Himamauli Das
Former Director of FinCEN
U.S. Department of the Treasury

Roberto Troya
Senior Vice President for WWF US country offices
Regional Director for Latin America and the Caribbean

Oleksandra Azarkhina
Deputy Minister
Ministry for Communities, Territories and Infrastructure Development of Ukraine

Juhani Grossmann
Team Leader Green Corruption
Senior Advisor for Central and Eastern Europe
Basel Institute on Governance

19 SEPTEMBER 2023

09:00–10:30 EST

WILSON CENTER
AUDITORIUM

LIVE STREAMING
AVAILABLE